Receipt is acknowledged of a request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) and a submission, filed on 25 June 2007. The submission, however, is not fully responsive to the prior Office action because the amended claims are directed to an invention non-elected by original presentation for the reasons discussed below. Since the submission appears to be a bona fide attempt to provide a complete reply to the prior Office action, applicant is given a shortened statutory period of ONE MONTH or THIRTY DAYS from the mailing date of this letter, whichever is longer, to submit a complete reply. This shortened statutory period for reply supersedes the time period set in the prior Office action. This time period may be extended pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a).

The amended claims are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons:

The amended claims are directed to laminated glass articles, stripped glass articles and hollow glass articles and the methods for making these articles. Dependent claims 2-4 and process claims 13, 18 and 19 teach the luminescent material is not part of the glass composition, but are present as a layer on the glass. The original claims were to a luminescent glass where the luminescent material is part of the glass composition and the method for making this glass.

With respect to dependent claims 2-4 and the process claims 13, 18 and 19, these articles and processes are distinct from the original glass composition and process of making the composition claims since (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together and have a materially different design, mode of operation, function and effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j).

Amended claims 1 and 16 and original claims 1-10 are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product, and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.05(j)). In the instant case, the intermediate product is deemed to be useful as solid glass articles and the inventions are deemed patentably distinct because there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants.

The original glass composition claims and amended process claim 12 are directed to an unrelated product and process. Product and process inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that the product cannot be used in, or made by, the process. See MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06. In the instant case, the glass composition cannot be made by the process of claim 12 which forms a hollow, laminated or stripped glass article.

The article claims 1 and 16 and the original process claims are directed to an unrelated product and process. Product and process inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that the product cannot be used in, or made by, the process. See MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06. In the instant case, the claimed articles cannot be used in nor made by the process for producing a glass composition, since there is no implied shaping step in the original process claims.

The original process claims and amended claim 12 are directed to related processes. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed the inventions as claimed have a materially different function and effect since the original process claims produce a glass composition and the amended claim 12 produces hollow, laminated or stripped glass articles. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.
